Fortune Telling

does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unclouded who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress.

The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health, love loses its lustre and gold is but dust.

Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. F. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes M. M. Fyfe, of Orilla, Minn. Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the Pleasant Pellets as you advised for congestion of uterus, ovaries, and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of making me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

ENGLISH GREEDY AT SOCIETY FUNCTIONS.

English manners at reception feasts form the text for a grilling attack by a cynic in one of the London weekly papers. He writes:

"Fashionable crowds, scarcely risen from their regular repasts, so soon arrive at the houses of their friends that they take no thought either of the serious purpose for which they have been invited or of the amenities which common politeness should exact from them, but their first concern is to hasten to the chamber which may have been set apart as a gratuitous drinking saloon or buffet."

"Whether it be that there is some subtle satisfaction in consuming refreshments for which no payment will be required, or whether the average man and woman are much greedier than we have ever given them credit for being, the fact remains that we cannot go to a private reception without finding a large proportion of the guests bustling, jostling, clamoring for beverages and dainties with a discourtesy that would not be tolerated in a public house, and might merit reprobation even in a herd of hogs."

Whereas in a hostelry we have seen drink the nominal and society the incidental, but really more potent attraction here, where advantages of birth and breeding should have produced a better result, we find the contrary case; drink and food, though professedly incidental, command a larger consideration than any other inducement that the host may have to offer. No one troubles to make any secret of it, and it is the triest commonplace to confess the acceptance of invitations to dinner only for houses where the kitchen is generous, or for receptions that will comprise a meretricious supper."

MRS. ROOSEVELT CARICATURED

A few Baltimore printers and lithographers, have been very busily engaged in preparing a large order of copies of a cartoon to be spread broadcast throughout the State in the next few days.

The plate from which the cartoon is printed is 9 by 12 inches in dimensions, and the subject is the entertainment by President Roosevelt in the White House of Booker T. Washington, which has excited so much comment recently. In the upper corner of the picture is a caricature of President Roosevelt. He is shaking hands with a negro, who beams as the President says, "I wish you would dine with Mrs. Roosevelt and myself this evening."

Below the same negro is represented as sitting at the table with Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt. The President, ex-cathedra, is talking and laughing with him, while Mrs. Roosevelt is represented as smiling and smiling as she pours tea for them. The cartoon is headed in big letters "It Has Come to This," and underneath are the words: "President Roosevelt entertains at dinner in the White House Booker T. Washington, colored, Wednesday evening, October 16, 1901."

SEVENTEEN YEAR LOCUSTS.

—Some entomologists are already admonishing farmers to prepare for the coming, next year, of the seventeen-year locust. The directions, if followed, may keep the ravages of the pests down to the minimum.

To avoid injuries growers are advised not to set out young orchards, either this fall or in the spring. If they do, they should leave as many shoots and branches as possible on which the insects may lay eggs without harm to the tree itself. The branches may be trimmed out early in July, when all danger is passed. Fruit and shrub trees should be trimmed as little as possible, and it will be better not to trim them at all. No budding or grafting should be done either in the fall of 1901 or next spring, as growing buds and grafts are especially apt to be injured.

A WIDOW IN DEMAND.

—In a mining camp some eighty miles from Coolgardie, in Western Australia, a carpenter died, and his widow had offers of marriage from the doctor who attended the deceased, the undertaker, the clergyman who read the burial service, the local apothecary who made up the medicines prescribed for the departed, and the custodian of the cemetery where the body was interred; likewise from about a score of mine managers and miners. She did not accept one of the suitors, and departed for her home in Melbourne.

A Convincing Answer.

"I bobbed into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., "and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine, as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it, and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Richard Gibson.

CIGARS.

Where did you get it, Chimmie?

It's a CAPTAIN BILLY CIGAR, and he enjoys it. The Captain Billy Cigar is good way down to the butt. You hate to throw it away unless you have another in your pocket and there is no reason why you shouldn't always have a supply when you can buy a 10 cent cigar for 5 cents—the best cigar for the money you ever smoked. Watch for the next.
